Closes To-Day at Noon, but Several Hundred 'Scripts Already Received.

The Amateur Scenario Contact Com rittee of the National Exhibitors League last night reported to The Evening World that the competition for the $100 prize has yielded material of a quality that will assure the success of the "amateur movie". The contest was designed to aid in producing at the movie show in Grand Central Palace next week. The contest closes to-day at noon. Several hundred amateurs have submitted manuscripts. Many of the scenarios show signs of talent remarkable in a novice. There are several worthy of production, and, inasmuch as only one of these can be accepted the committee appointed to choose it is going to have a difficult task to determine just which one is really best suited to the requirements of this unique production.
